A black and white line-art collage of various school and science supplies. At the top left is a stack of three books. To its right is a globe showing continents. Further right is a diagram of an atom with a central nucleus and three elliptical orbits. In the top right corner is a calculator with buttons for '+', '-', 'x', and '/'. The bottom half of the image contains a ruler, a protractor, a pencil, and another calculator. The entire background is filled with these and other faint school-related icons.
